

Got a technology question?

Just Ask AL

AL stands for Atomic Learning, MPI's new online resource for software training.

Atomic Learning provides a large, online library of short, easy-to-understand tutorials. AL's "just-in-time" approach to software training focuses on answering the common questions encountered when learning and using software. How do you cut and paste in Word? How do you add transitions to a PowerPoint presentation? How do you touch up photos using Photoshop Elements? Just ask AL.

1. Go to www.atomiclearning.com
2. Enter the following user name and password:
User Name: midpac
Password: aloha
3. Type your question in the search box and click on Search
4. An answer will be provided in the form of a short, narrated movie. The movie will walk you through all the steps needed to complete the task

Our subscription to Atomic Learning includes:

- Access for staff, students and their families 24 hours a day, seven days a week
- Closed captioning on many tutorials
- Spanish language tutorials. Click on Español in the upper right-hand corner.
- Curriculum tools
 - Teacher2Teacher lesson plans developed by teachers for integrating technology into the curriculum
 - Workshops on mail merges, newsletters and charting
 - Storyboard Pro software and video storytelling guide
- AL's Weekly Tech Tips. To subscribe, click on What's New.
- Online training sessions on Atomic Learning. To register, click on Support

Mid-Pacific Institute has taken a big step in integrating technology into our classrooms. We are dedicated to providing the highest quality technology resources available. We want to make it easier for you to use these resources.

Have a question about technology?

Just ask AL.

www.atomiclearning.com
Atomic Learning
Web-based software training and support.